From Where The West
Begins.
By JOHN T. MEYERS.

THE Hauptman trial jury will shortly face the serious duty of deciding whether or not Bruno Hauptman is guilty of the kidnapping and murder of the Lindbergh baby. The state has produced convincing evidence throughout the lengthy and circus-like trial. Bit by bit a web of guilt seemed to enshroud the German carpenter as witness after witness gave testimony linking him with an unforgivable crime that shocked the entire civilized world.

Cleverly, Hauptman's defense resorted to every possible legal strategy in attempting to break down the damning facts that were uncovered following Hauptman's arrest and subsequent discovery of the ransom money at his home.

Day after day, the men and women in that body of 12 citizens who must now decide whether Hauptman is guilty or innocent, have sat in the jury box in the crowded Flemington, N. J., courtroom listening to testimony and evidence presented by both the prosecution and defense. At this writing the opinions of these individuals is known only to themselves. One guess is as good as another as to what verdict they will decide upon.

A n editor friend in Chicago, with long years of newspaper experience, gives his personal opinion of Hauptman's guilt in a letter to this reporter setting forth the action he would pursue were he serving on the Hauptman jury. He says: "I would find Hauptman guilty. I wouldn't especially be anxious to fix the punishment at death. Would give him life. And I would do it on these things: First, he was in this country illegally. Had been law-abiding he would not have smuggled himself into the country—in that he was violating the law. Second, he had a considerable amount of money. That it was not honest is indicated by the way he kept it. Had it been honest money, he would have had it invested, or in a bank. Also, it appears beyond dispute that it was Lindbergh ransom money. Those two things, and those alone, would be sufficient for me to find him guilty of the kidnapping and death of the child. And if eleven of the jurors wanted to give him death, I wouldn't hang back—I'd vote with them."

A t least there is consolation for Leon Trice, photographer in knowing that Kingfish Huey Long wasn't man enough to do his own slugging. Hiring a blackjack wielding gorilla to assault a defenseless photographer, whose only defense appears to have been getting a picture of the none too pulchritudinous Louisiana Senator, stamps the Kingfish in the same category with gangster chieftains. Louisiana is overdue for a political purge.

I T IS nothing unusual for a chicken thief to be lodged in jail, but detectives were confronted with a problem when they discovered a negro "roost snatcher" sneaking down an alley with a sack of chickens slung across his shoulder, during the wee hours of morn.

The detectives took the chickens to headquarters along with the negro, and locked them in a separate cell. Shortly after daylight the sergeant heard a commotion in the chicken cell. Investigating, he found a hen cackling over a 'jail laid' egg.

Hancock Co. Residents Escape from Pass Calaboose Recaptured and Returned

Three young men from Hancock county who broke out of the Pass Christian jail over last week-end, were re-arrested the following day and brought back to the Pass where they were brought before Mayor D. G. Rafferty with charges of being drunk and disturbing the peace and driving under the influence of liquor. Fines of $5 and cost were imposed upon the three, namely, Willie Farrell, Wesley Garriga and Ferdinand Mautray.

HANCOCK SUPERVISOR LOSES BROTHER BY TRAGIC DEATH SUN.

T. C. Wheat, of North Gulfport, Killed When Struck By Automobile Near Landon

Thomas C. Wheat, 51-year-old North Gulfport dairyman, was killed near his home Sunday morning when he was struck by an automobile said by police to have been driven by Vernon C. Gould, a truck and poultry farm operator from Landon.

Gould was charged at the police station with manslaughter but was paroled for hearing next Saturday when witnesses said Wheat apparently became confused when told an automobile was approaching from the rear and stepped into the path of the car, according to daily press message.

Mr. Wheat is survived by two sons, Herman and Claiborne Wheat; three daughters, Mrs. Everett Sanders, Mrs. Harvey Garlotte and Mrs. Woodford Sanders, all of Gulfport, and five brothers, John Wheat, present member from Beat 2 Board of Supervisors, Hancock County, and who sustained the loss of his wife only last week; Ernest Wheat and Morris Wheat, Hancock county residents and Orley Wheat and Albert Wheat of Tucson, Ariz.

CCC CAMPS ASSURED 1 RELIGIOUS SERVICE PER WEEK IN FUTURE

This Is Possible With Help Of Civilian Clergy, Says Capt. Chas. M. Kinard Of Kila Camp

With the help and cooperation of civilian clergy we have been able to have at least one religious service per week in all of the CCC camps," says Captain Chas. M. Kinard, chaplain, of the camp at Kila, to The Echo.

"Many ministers of every denomination diving near the camps have been very cooperative and very beneficial in carrying out the religious program. We view with pride the record they have made and the unselfish service they have given."

"Many of the laymen and laywomen of the churches have also given generously of their time and services. Their efforts have not been in vain, for they have been ministering to home-loving boys away from home, and all that they have done has registered deep in the hearts of all of those fortunate enough to share and participate in these services."

"We wish to express our thanks and gratitude for this spirit of cooperation. May it live and grow as the CCC program lives and grows. And may you realize that you have had no small part in the program of this wonderful character building organization."

Sheep Eat Pine Seedlings and Not Good For Piney Woods

Damage to young pine trees from sheep grazing has been a matter of discussion for years, with most people agreeing that the sheep did some damage. A recent letter from District Ranger C. O. Batson of Wiggins, Mississippi, to K. E. Kimball, Chief of Forest Fire Control for the State Forestry Commission, adds to the information on the subject. Mr. Batson writes: "There has been a question among stockmen as to whether sheep actually did damage to pine or not. I am glad to relate this instance at my house. I planted 4,000 slash pine seedlings and found that well fed sheep that were permitted to graze in the pasture among the saplings had actually destroyed 20 per cent of the trees planted. Had they been allowed to continue in the pasture, I believe they would have eaten the entire planting of 4,000."

BAY CENTRAL P.T.A. HOLDS MEETING ON FOUNDERS' DAY, 12

President's Message Read by Mrs. C. J. Mitchell—Mrs. C. C. McDonald's Address

In spite of the weather there was a large gathering at the Bay Central P. T. A. meeting held at the school Tuesday afternoon, February 12th. The program was of unusual interest because it commemorated the national Founders' Day of the association. Mrs. Leo Seal, vice-president, presided in the absence of Mrs. A. P. Smith, who was ill. The meeting opened with a prayer by Mrs. J. H. Anderson. The President's message was read by Mrs. Charles J. Mitchell, following which Mrs. C. C. McDonald, State President, gave a brief but interesting talk on Founders' Day. It was regretted that Mrs. W. U. Moss had been called out of town and could not sing as had been arranged.

The fifth grade Mothers won the prize for having the most Mothers present.

An enjoyable social hour was held after the business meeting. Mrs. W. S. Speer and Miss Lydia Boyd Blount were the hostesses for the afternoon. They were assisted by Mrs. Nix, Mrs. Roland Weston, Mrs. Carl Olson, Mrs. Albert Biehl and others of the fifth grade mothers.

The home economics room was festive with red hearts. The beautiful red and white iced cake with its 38 candles commemorating the 38th anniversary of the National Association, held the place of honor on the tea table. It was cut by Mrs. C. C. McDonald and Mrs. James A. Evans.

County Agent Bozeman To Call Meeting For Rural Better Housing

BENEFIT BALL AND FLOOR SHOW HOSPITAL WILL BE TO-NIGHT

Affair Will Take Place at Uncle Charlie's and Many Expected to Attend and Help Cause.

Benefit ball and floor show for Bay St. Louis King's Daughters and Sons Hospital will take place at Uncle Charlie's Nite Club on Thursday night of this week—tonight, the time of The Echo's local release for circulation.

This money to be realized is urgently needed. There is need of a screened porch, facing the west, where patients may rest and recuperate; there is need of more living quarters and other improvements in order that hospital may continue to meet the demands of a wider scope. While both county and city contribute a certain stipend monthly, and certain patients pay for their room and board, it must not be forgotten the hospital's major work is free to the people of the county. While some pay in part, others what ever they may be able to give, the overhead of the hospital is of such proportion that of matter of necessity it cannot be reduced to a further minimum. Hence all revenues, as limited as they may be, are insufficient to defray the cost of building and necessary improvements.

The ball tonight will include a floor show. Miss Jacqueline Fontaine, who on previous occasion appeared to advantage at Uncle Charlie's Nite Club, will be joined by other talent from Bay St. Louis and the show promises to be one of the best yet. If you do not dance, says the management, come anyway to look on. Identify your self by your presence. The floor show will interest both dancers and spectators.

SPEAKER BEFORE BAY ROTARY CLUB ASKS SUPPORT OF CLUB

In Opposition of Ratification Of St. Lawrence Treaty Of Waterways

John A. Fox, secretary and field agent of the Mississippi Valley Association, was a speaker before Bay St. Louis Rotary Club Tuesday night and made a brief address, his subject was the St. Lawrence Waterways treaty now being urged by President Franklin D. Roosevelt as a project worthy of adoption. Mr. Fox made an instructive talk on the subject, explaining how the ratification of this treaty would be detrimental to the Mississippi Valley and the Gulf states.

It was brought out that various chambers of commerce in this section had gone on record opposing the ratification of this proposed waterway. Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce some time back adopted such a resolution. Mr. Fox asked the local Chamber of Commerce to again adopt such resolution, to resurrect the opposition and to make it known a second time to our representatives in Congress, both House and Senate.

Mr. Fox was given a close hearing at the Rotary and opposition of the project was endorsed.

Pine Hills Golf Links Growing More Popular Each Week-End

Popularity of Pine Hills Golf course increases each weekend. Last Sunday many players were noted on the links, the usual number from Bay St. Louis and about twenty-four players from along the Coast. Gulfport was particularly well represented with a delegation of many people. Players were accompanied by members of their respective families and the day was spent by non-players in picnic pastime.

It is interesting to note the greens and fairways are especially green for this time of the season. Constant care and recent showers assures plenty of fresh grass covering.

MIGHTY COLORADO HARNESSSED

THE ingenuity of man has finally halted the flow of the mighty Colorado river which, scientists tell us, has been unshackled for 3,000,000 years. The huge steel gate has closed and the greatest dam in the world, rising 727 feet, will impound the waters of the river in a lake that will extend back about 115 miles and require three years to be filled.

The Boulder Dam, under construction since 1930, has been pushed ahead of schedule by the contractors. Power to start the electric work of the project will be generated early this year and eventually develop 1,800,000 horsepower, three times as much as the capacity of any other source.

GOV. MOODIE'S EXAMPLE

THE decision of the Supreme Court of North Dakota, declaring that Governor Moodie was ineligible to hold that high office, was followed by the prompt acquiescence of the executive who called upon all citizens to cooperate with his successor.

We think the people of North Dakota are to be congratulated upon this settlement of a controversy which looked dangerous. Moreover, Mr. Moodie deserves the thanks of his own State and the nation as well for cheerfully accepting the adverse decision, thus setting an example that is worthy of praise and emulation.

Old age pensions as a campaign issue attracts much attention. One must be over sixty and entirely dependent on such proposed gesture. Gov. Conner has stated that Mississippi could never think of old age pensions. It would bankrupt the State for the reason resources are far from sufficient to meet such emergency. However, it makes good campaign material and attracts the many who think the government can give, not first thinking it must first receive. In the last analysis everything the government, federal or State may give, it comes from the pockets of the tax-payer. There is nothing free. Study Emerson's Law of Compensation.

We note many postmasters are receiving temporary appointments awaiting until a permanent one is announced. This patronage is now entirely in the hands of congressmen and senators have little or nothing to do in the premises. A senator might add his recommendation to an applicant but his influence might more probably count for naught. Such temporary appointment has been made for Pascagoula and other places in Mississippi not so near home.

Various garden clubs along the Mississippi Gulf Coast will find much work to do at this time in addition to study of botanical life. Recent cold played havoc with the "emerald coast" and there is plenty to do replacing the greenery and plants that made this section one of the "garden spots of America." A subscriber writes "that it might be well to begin early to replace plants destroyed by the freeze and, incidentally, add a few more than the garden had last season."

"Rumor hath it that Lester Franklin, candidate for Governor, was utterly flabbergasted when he read that Senator Bilbo had proclaimed support of Hugh White in the gubernatorial campaign this year," says the Jackson News. "Politically speaking, Lester was never much more than a trusting child. However, this Bilbo-White alliance is certainly going to shock his faith in Santa Claus."

Among a long list of projects asked for from federal relief agencies Harrison county board of supervisors have included $800,000 for a double beach boulevard along the Harrison line Mississippi Gulf Coast. Space for that work was provided for when the seawall and present single roadway were constructed some years since.

Lester Franklin, candidate for governor, has two former governors apparently supporting him if we can take their presence at his recent opening campaign rally as an indication. They are Gov. Brewer and Gov. Lee M. Russell. But since it takes more than one swallow to make a summer not even two will help.

The eclipse of the sun recently hardly caused a ripple and there was a time once when men and women thought it was an indisputable sign of God's wrath. Little as we think of it, this is a sign of progress.

Judging from some cigarette advertisements a few puffs equal a ham sandwich, and a couple fags will give the same energy as a full meal.

So far as we know no newspaper editor has received a refund on the payment of excess income tax.

We admit that our artistic vision is limited but we have never been able to fathom the talent of horn soloists.

The audience was really surprised when the speaker, after saying "words fail me," sat down.

CREATING BEAUTY HERE

ALMOST all of us have the "beauty of nature" fever in the spring of the year. As we observe the opening up of natural life and witness the marvels of creation, the blooms and buds that burst into view, we usually resolve to take a hand, early enough, and beautify Bay St. Louis next year.

Always it seems, it is "next year." Why? Let some of the people of our city get the matter started on time, let us all have the importance of town beautification stressed at the right time, and then, maybe, next spring, Bay St. Louis will show the evidence of the proper spirit.

Hundreds of miles of roadways throughout and adjoining coast counties and the immediate Gulf Coast as well could be made beautiful and made so attractive as to cause tourists and travelers of all kinds to motor out of their way in order to see the handiwork of men. Why must a roadside be a barren site? Nature endowed them with beauty, we know, but this natural beauty long since fell prey to the vandal hands of passers-by. Let us recreate scenes of beauty along the roads in this county. The effort is worth making, especially about beautifying our own front lawns and yards. Both Bay St. Louis and Waveland have much in common and there is lots of room for further beautification of our own premises.

The daily press has much to occupy the front page these days. Surely there is no dearth of sensational news. Notably there is the Bruno Hauptmann kidnapping and murder case, attracting the attention of two continents. Then Senator Long's sensational charges preferred against Post Master General Farley in which he says the P. M. participated in profits from government contracts with companies in which he privately owns or is financially interested and that he can prove his charges or, if he fails, will resign or be forced to do so from his senatorial position. He says Farley is the high priest of the administration.

A DANGEROUS RESOLUTION

THE resolution introduced by Senator Borah, calling for an investigation into Mexican anti-religious outbreaks, persecution of Christians and mistreatment of American citizens, is a dangerous move.

The text of the resolution, to begin with, condemns the Mexican government in the name of humanity, etc.

Aside from the fact that such a resolution will fan the fires that burn below the Rio Grande, what has the United States Senate got to do with the affairs of Mexico. Why should those who oppose entry into a World Court because it might entangle us in European affairs attempt to project this nation into Mexican affairs?

If rights of American citizens have been abridged in Mexico the government of the United States, by proper representations, can probably protect them. Certainly, the Senate has nothing to do with the question at its present stage.

Because Hon. Hugh White, Columbia lumberman and philanthropist, received a refund of $66,000 refund tax money from the government already there is a cry from some quarters that since Mr. White has formally announced his intention for the governorship of Mississippi, this amount will serve as slush fund for his campaign. Of course this charge is malicious. But it has been pointed out that this refund was made to the White Lumber Company of which there are ten potential stockholders and the money will revert to each of the number. If Mr. White had to depend on such funds and coming from such uncertain sources we are satisfied he would hardly entertain entering the gubernatorial race.

MAINTAIN AN OPEN MIND

YOUNG people have many things to expect during the course of their lives. To refer back fifty years reminds us of the great improvements that have been made. The life of every person is easier today because of the inventions and developments that have come into common household use.

This material progress is certain to continue. Fifty years from the present time people will look back upon today with sympathetic sorrow for the "hardships" that we endure. Our boasted civilization will seem crude, indeed, beside the refinements then existing.

The lesson for us to learn from the truths outlined above is the ephemeral nature of present achievements and the necessity of keeping our minds out conservative ruts. Every man and woman can aid civilization in its upward trend by remaining alert mentally, always for improvements and never being completely satisfied with what we enjoy.

An open mind to accept future revelations is an asset worth possessing.

The Jackson News likes the name of a certain candidate for sheriff over in Clarke county, judging from this quote: John Sharp Butler is announced as a candidate for the legislature down in Clarke county. This writer doesn't know that gentleman, but the first part of the name sounds good, being reminiscent of Mississippi's greatest statesman of his generation. Mr. Butler issues a seven-point platform, the last one being this: "I will not steal from the people of this county or state." That sounds good, also.

Li-Gov. Dennis Murphree it appears has not made many new friends by holding the governor's chair and exercising the prerogatives of the chief executive while the latter was away last week at Washington in the interest of the people. It appears the Li-Gov. exercised his power in a manner quite contrary to the Governor's well-known policies thereby laying himself open to such criticism that proves anything but good taste and judgment. We feel certain Murphree can well answer his critics but he will have to do a whole lot of explaining to satisfy his critics and possibly the public as well.

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING

REMEMBER THE MAINE.

THIS evening, Friday 15th, small groups of elderly men will gather in Bay St. Louis and other places throughout the United States for a very simple ceremony. Thirty-seven years ago they were young, strong, active fellows, bound together by military discipline, their badges of patriotism worn on their shoulders with the pins pointing up.

The event they are commemorating has grown dim in the memories of most of us, but then it fired the nation, and led to consequences of the greatest importance. Relations between the United States and Spain had been strained to put down an insurrection against her rule. Public opinion in this country was greatly irritated, but President McKinley, a kindly, conscientious man, was trying to maintain pacific relations between the countries. The U. S. Battleship Maine was sent to Havana, Cuba, on a friendly visit, a call which was returned by the Spanish ship Vizcaya at New York.

On the evening of February 15th 1898, while the Maine was anchored in Havana Harbor, a terrific explosion occurred, sinking the ship and causing the death of two hundred sixty of the officers and crew. It is a tribute to the discipline of these men, and of the American navy, that the seamen orderly immediately hurried to Captain Sigsbee, the commander, saluted correctly and said: "Sir, I have to report that the ship has been blown up and is sinking." There was no panic.

After careful investigation American naval experts reported that the ship had been destroyed by an explosion occurring outside her hull, presumably by a mine. The responsibility has never been fixed, although the American report was later confirmed when the ship was raised.

The destruction of the Maine precipitated a war, the watchword of which was, "Remember the Maine." It was not a great war, for only small armies were engaged, and active hostilities ended within four months after the declaration of war on April 19. On May 1 Commodore Dewey destroyed the Spanish fleet in Manila Bay. On April 13 the city of Manila was occupied by General Merritt and American troops. Admiral Cervera sailed from Spain with a fleet, which Admiral Sampson and Schley bottled up in the harbor of Santiago de Cuba. An American army under General Shafter captured the city early in July, and the Spanish fleet was destroyed on July 3rd as it attempted to escape from the harbor. That was all. American troops were being prepared for an attack on Havana, but they were never needed.

It was a little war, but it had great results. It drew North and South together as they had not been for forty years. Generals Joseph Wheeler and Fitzhugh Lee, who had won distinction in the Confederate armies commanded Union troops. Men from Virginia, Illinois, Mississippi, Pennsylvania and all the other states fought in the same brigades, and even in the same squads.

The war led to the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands and Porto Rico and to the occupation of the Philippines. In the latter a fight commenced by the Filipinos before the treaty of peace had ended Spanish sovereignty there began two years of active, but small scale fighting. The presence of our troops in the islands made possible the prompt dispatch of a force to relieve Americans and Europeans who had been besieged in Pekin, China.

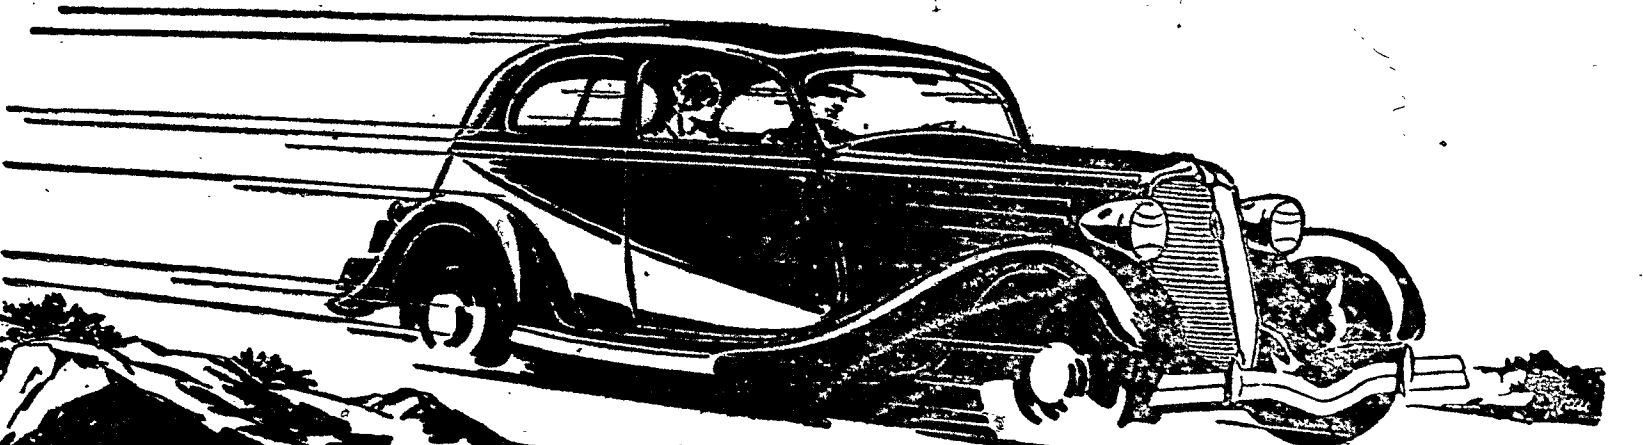

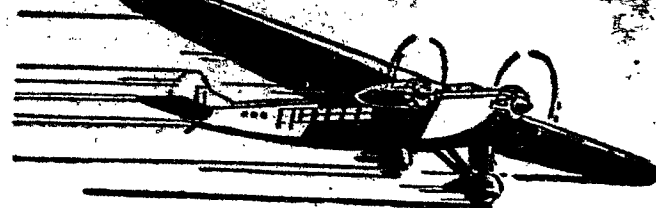

These events made the United States, for the first time, a great world power. We were no longer isolated and able to ignore great events outside of our own immediate neighborhood, but a great nation with great responsibilities.

The war with Spain might be classed as aggressive. We were interfering with another nation in its own territory. There was no question of the invasion of American soil. On the contrary we invaded foreign lands. Yet we acted in the name of humanity, and few wars have been more righteous. Towards the Spaniards our conduct was so chivalrous as to win their respect, and even their liking, so that the two nations are now friends. Wherever our armies passed peace and order followed.

We have been successful in our new responsibilities as we have assumed in a brave, firm, kindly manner. No stain of cruelty or of oppression mars our record. An excess of timidity, of confidence in other peoples and of liberalism has sometimes been unfortunate. Free Cuba might have been better off under the control of the government at Washington, had that been possible.

The Maine, a small ship by present standards, was a representative of the government of the United States and a symbol of its power. The men who served and died with her performed their duties honorably and well, so that we have just pride in them. Their death was tragic. Their monument, far greater than the column on the Malecon in Havana, is a united nation and a world power whose greatest fault is an excessive devotion to liberty and peace. On this, their anniversary, we can afford to stop for a few minutes to "Remember the Maine."

THOSE WHO CAN BUT WON'T WORK MAY BE CUT FROM RELIEF ROLLS

(Jackson Clarion-Ledger)

MILLIONS are being spent on unemployment relief in New York City by the city and the federal government. Unemployment there is reported very heavy.

New York recently had an unusually heavy snow fall. Removal of snow from the city streets usually provides temporary jobs for thousands of men.

Removal was delayed last week by inability to get enough labor. Literally hundreds who were on the relief rolls refused to work to make a dollar.

Editors, columnists, and feature writers made much of this incident. They used it properly, as an argument for public works jobs in preference to the dole.

The same sort of arguments had been printed in Mississippi long ago, inspired by the same sort of incidents. Many Mississippi towns and counties during the past two years have reported labor shortages on farms, inability to get help for planting or picking cotton, while the relief rolls lengthened and men of both races, on the rolls, loafed around the towns and turned down all offers of jobs in the fields.

If and when the state has to pay half of the unemployment relief costs, particularly if the towns and counties have to share the burdens, some of these conditions will be remedied, and the relief rolls will be cut without injustice to anybody. Those dispensing the funds will realize that they are not Federal "easy money" but money representing local taxes. Citizens and officials will see to it that those in charge of relief understand this.

The result probably will be that those who are able to work and won't work when offered a job, will be removed from the relief rolls. It will be a case of work or go hungry. And that will be a good thing for town, county, and state, probably even a good thing, if unpleasant, for the persons affected.

The days of easy and undeserved relief near their end in Mississippi, and in other states.

AND HIS NAME WAS DENNIS.

(Mississippi Guide)

THE Guide's good friend Dennis is not behaving so well during Governor Conner's periods of absence.

In good grace the least a lieutenant governor can do when the governor is away is to carry out the governor's policies.

Dennis destroys the splendid chance he had to be the next governor of Mississippi.

If the Telephone were Not There!

MANY TIMES each day you reach for the telephone on your desk at the office or in its familiar spot at home. It is an old and trusted friend. You scarcely give a thought to what it means to a busy day.

Yet suppose the telephone were not there! Suppose—for a week—or a month—you could not call anybody by telephone and nobody could call you! The whole machinery of business and the home would be thrown out of gear. Orders would be lost—efficiency and profits reduced. You would be out of touch with your world.

America needs quick, reliable telephone service to get things done in the brisk, crisp American manner. And it enjoys the best service in the world. America leads in telephone service. In relation to population there are six times as many telephones in this country as in Europe and the telephone is used nine times as much.

Greater progress has been made in this country because of the Bell System's one policy, one system and universal service.

1 CENT CUT IN FOREST TAX FOR CO.

Clerk A. G. Favre, Receives Letter Informing of Forest Tax Reduction From 3 To 2 Cents

Clerk of the Courts A. G. Favre, Hancock County Board of Supervisors, is in receipt of a communication from Fred B. Merrill, State Forester, that the tax heretofore collected from Hancock county for forestry protection has been reduced from 3 to 2 cents, this following a meeting of the State Forestry Commission, February 1.

Forester Merrill's letter to Mr. Favre follows and is self-explanatory. It will be noted the CCC camp has accomplished considerable work and that the prevention of fires is largely up to the people of our county; and if the good work continues we may look forward to another reduction.

"Dear Sir: I am glad to report that at the February 1 meeting of the Forestry Commission, an order was passed, reducing the forest protection tax in Hancock county from three cents to two cents per acre per year. This reduction is in line with the original understanding that once the protection improvements such as telephone lines, towers, roads, etc., were completed, the reduction would be made.

"Due to the fact that we were able to get a CCC camp in Hancock County, which camp has provided and built two towers, 127 miles of telephone line, 130 miles of roads, 1 towerman's house, and 94 bridges over eight feet, at no expense to the county, we believe that two cents per acre from now on will furnish adequate funds for maintaining and operating the fire protection system in Hancock county.

"I believe further that with the full cooperation of all people in the county, a further reduction might be possible within a year or two. You realize, of course, that practically 100 per cent of the fires in the county are of human origin and consequently that if the people of the county will use proper precautions, it will become necessary for the protection organization to handle only such fires as are caused by outsiders or by accident.

"Anything that you and your Board can do to aid in reducing the number of fires in the county will be a step towards a further reduction in protection costs for the county."

Harry J. Boyle of San Francisco Visits Home And Friends Sunday

Harry J. Boyle, son of Mrs. D. H. Boyle, and brother of Robert L. Boyle and Charles Genin, was a visitor to Bay St. Louis visiting his mother and other relatives and friends as well on Sunday last.

Mr. Boyle is another native Bay St. Louis boy who has made good, gradually rising from a small beginning after finishing school until he is general manager of the Pacific department "Fire Companies' Adjustment Bureau, Inc., with headquarters at San Francisco, Calif., where he now resides, moving there from New Orleans headquarters some time back.

Mr. Boyle was en route to New York City on a business trip for his company and stopped off here for the day en route. From New York City he will fly back to San Francisco. Mr. Boyle is a licensed pilot.

It is gratifying to learn of this young man's success, beginning at the bottom rung of the ladder (as all young men should) and rising to an executive position for a corporation of nationwide being and prominence in the business world. Mr. Boyle intimated nothing about his salary, but it is well known to be of considerable high figures.

MR. AND MRS. FITCHER RETURN FROM FORTNIGHT VISIT TO FLORIDA.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Fitcher returned home Sunday afternoon from a tour of the principal cities and resorts of Florida during the zenith of the fashionable tourist season, stopping principally at Jacksonville, San Augustine, Palm Beach, Miami, Orlando and Tampa at the latter place witnessing the annual Carnival parade and festivities known as the arrival and visit of Gasparilla to the Capital City.

They visited friends at different points and participated in the gay social life of the Florida winter resorts which have made "come back" from the economical stress. Miami and Palm Beach, they report, is crowded and hotel accommodations are scarce with prices again at pre-depression high level. Miami is the high spot of the wealthy and fashionable. New York is largely represented and many noted personages internationally known are there from continental Europe and other foreign places. Mr. and Mrs. Fitcher recently returned from a month's visit in New York City.

FRIENDS PAY TRIBUTE TO MISS DEL BONDIO ON BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY.

Miss L. C. Del Bondio was the recipient of many messages of congratulations and good wishes last Sunday on the occasion of a birthday anniversary and many callers during the day added to the pleasures of "Blue Heaven" home on the Pass Christian beach. Special guests and a dinner in the early afternoon marked the event and celebration of the day and at night at informal reception was held.

Guest of honor for the occasion was the Rev. John D. Foulkes, S. J., regent of the law school of Loyola, at New Orleans, and a warm personal friend of the Del Bondio family. Incidentally, this week Father Foulkes was named pastor of Church of the Holy Name, according to announcement made by the Rev. Joseph M. Walsh, S. J., provincial of the southern province for the Society of Jesus.

A birthday cake of unusual beauty and excellence, baked by Mrs. Bourgeois, of The Answer, Bay St. Louis, was a notable centerpiece of the table in the dining room. Beautiful cut flowers decorated the interior of the home.

MRS. C. JAUBERT CHADWICK'S LUNCHEON-BRIDGE AT THE ANSWER THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

Mrs. C. Jaubert Chadwick's Valentine's luncheon-bridge at The Answer St. Valentine's Day (Thursday) was one of the largest of social affairs given this season and pronounced one of the outstanding in social circles this season.

Luncheon was served at twelve individual card tables, guests placed in groups of four by tally-plate cards and a bountiful and delicious luncheon served. Each table carried decorations typical of St. Valentine's Day. Nothing was seemingly overlooked, the decorative scheme carried to the most minute detail. A heart-shaped box of Valentine color, containing candy, formed a desirable favor and was part of the decoration. Two prizes to every table, a high score trophy and a cut prize, generously rewarding the players for their skill and chance as well.

These were all of a distinctive type and rewards well worthy striving for. Included in the forty-eight guests playing cards were Mrs. S. M. Fuchic, Jr., Mrs. Joseph Martinez, Mrs. Edward Moret, Mrs. Donald Jewett, Mrs. Hugh P. Burbank, all of New Orleans, who made the trip hither especially for this function.

Mrs. Chadwick was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. N. Dick.

BAY ST. LOUIS CARNIVAL BALL OF APPEALING INTEREST TO MANY.

Of all-absorbing interest is the forthcoming annual Carnival Ball to take place Thursday, February 28 at S. J. A. Gym. The identity of King Louis II and Queen Marie II still remains unsolved and as time goes on appears a deeper secret. It is planned not to reveal the names of the royal personages until night of the ball. Also: the names of maids and dukes and pages, to have been published in these columns about this time, will remain unannounced in accordance with a plan of the court committee. While this list is no secret it is requested to follow the plan of last year, that is, all names be published after the ball.

With The Movies And Film Folks

A CHANGE that promises to affect every phase of the film business is about to take place—in fact is already taking place—that is the use of color in the producing of pictures. Walt Disney, inventor of Mickey Mouse, is leading the way by creating the Silly Symphonies in the new Technicolor process. The first of the Mickey Mouse films in Technicolor, "The Band Concert" will be released soon.

Several other producers have used Technicolor in parts of various productions and Alexander Korda, production head of London Films, has announced that two or three of his productions during the next six months, "Lawrence of Arabia," featuring Leslie Howard, and "Joseph and His Brothers" will be in color.

Mae West, discussing her newest film for Paramount, "Now I'm a Lady," now in production, thinks it is the best she has done. "I know now what they (the censors) want and what they don't want," she says, and is proceeding to give it to them.

Wallace Beery, Jean Harlow and Clark Gable will appear together in MGM's film version of "China Seas," based on the novel by Christie Garstin. Tay Garnett will direct.

John Barrymore recently arrived in New York after a trip to India to see the birthplace of his father, the late Maurice Barrymore, at Fort Agra. He plans to return to Europe this summer for a picture.

Ann Sothern was painfully injured during the filming of a mechanical storm at sea when she was thrown against the deck railing of a studio "ship." Her injury was not serious, however.

Dolores Del Rio is reported to have paid $5,000 for a bull terrier, Bonnie, whose blood is said to be very, very blue. This is believed to be a record price in the sale of one of this breed.

Before shipping the cast to Tahiti for "Mutiny on the Bounty," Frank Lloyd and a group of technicians will sound out the weather and filming conditions. In the cast, it is expected Charles Laughton, Clark Gable, and Robert Montgomery will be present.

Mervyn LeRoy will direct Marion Davies' next film, a screen version of "Page Miss Glory."

Crosby and Carlisle Team Marks Return Of Film Romancers

For the first time in Bing Crosby's meteoric film career, Paramount's popular crooner-comedian appears with the same leading lady in two pictures, thus beginning the career of another of Hollywood's famous romantic teams.

Crosby, in his new Paramount picture, "Here Is My Heart," coming Sunday and Monday to the A. & G. Theater, is again featured with Kitty Carlisle, who first appeared opposite him in the leading roles of "She Loves Me Not."

Heretofore Crosby has carefully avoided working with the same actress twice, but the work and the vocalizing of this team in the highly successful "She Loves Me Not" brought so much commendation that the studio has cast them together again in "Here Is My Heart" in the hope that they will repeat that performance.

Few Romantic Teams

Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne formed screen's first great starring team, but in modern times was Jane Garret and Charles Farrell who brought the idea back to popularity in "Seventh Heaven." Teams sprang up in all studios.

There have been innumerable comedy teams such as George Burns and Gracie Allen, Charlie Ruggles and Mary Boland, and Wallace Beery and the late Marie Dressler.

But, among the more romantic combinations, only a few have been conspicuously successful. Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler and Jimmy Dunn and Sally Eilers worked together in a series of pictures. Evelyn Venable and Kent Taylor were teamed for five consecutive pictures, one of them away from their home lot, but the combination finally was split when both rebelled against further appearances in opposite roles.

Leila Hyams and Sharon Lynn had the leading feminine roles in Crosby's first picture, "The Big Broadcast." Later he appeared in turn with Mary Carlisle, Judith Allen, Marion Davies, and Carole Lombard.

Both Kitty Carlisle and Miriam Hopkins were in "She Loves Me Not," but it was Miss Carlisle's duet of the Robin-Ranger song, "Love in Bloom," that caused a flood of fan mail requesting that these two be teamed again.
